About This Menu

As always, we strive to support local. Usually organic and often dropped fresh at our door direct from our growers and producers. The seasons and what grows best in them helps drive the menu. And our inhouse pickling, preserving and fermenting helps us extend those seasons where we can.

Aside from that, I really want you to treat this menu as yours.
To mix, share, pick and choose as you wish.

While there is a general flow from snacks through to larger shared plates through to desserts, I have designed it so that most dishes can work with others and you can create a meal that is exactly what you feel like.

Something light, something vegetarian, something to snack on or something to share by filling the whole table – you can do it! The pricier proteins before the desserts are generally plated for two or more to enjoy.

Any questions, clarifications or helpful advice on what might suit you best – please just ask one of our team. And thanks for spending some time with us today. Appreciated.
